Sirs,

The letter in the Ilkley Gazette Thursday March 27 by Mr. [REDACTED] Barrett confirms everything that I would say on the subject. We have to look to the future as well as the present, we have responsibility for our families future. Houses need to be built where work is available, transport costs will continue to climb, Ilkley simply cannot accommodate more traffic, roads and parking cannot take more traffic and that applies to schools, health services, sewerage system and more. We in our life have enjoyed the town and its surroundings why destroy and make future life more difficult. The country as a whole must look beyond house building, with the world's population growing beyond resources available, we will need to grow more food here. Let us have some common sense, the British Isles is considerably smaller than it was a few thousand years ago and with pollution it is going to continue getting smaller and smaller, we have a big responsibility.

Good luck and think carefully, we cannot eat money

[REDACTED] Beasley
